Fort Worth, TX — June 24, 2015 — Susan G. Komen, the world's largest breast cancer organization, welcomes five leaders in international business, government affairs, law, finance and marketing – and the organization's Affiliate Network – as new members of Komen's Board of Directors.

“We are thrilled with the depth of expertise and diversity of backgrounds that our new board members bring to our organization, and welcome them as leaders in our mission to end breast cancer, forever,” said Linda P. Custard, Komen's Board Chairperson.

The new directors, elected unanimously on Wednesday, are:

Ceille is a cancer survivor who is active in cancer organizations.
